OVERVIEW

SHAPE was appointed to deliver this turnkey design and construct project for AON on level 22 at 91 King William Street, Adelaide. The client needed a new fitout as their existing lease was due to expire. They engaged SHAPE because of our understanding of their key requirements, having previously completed a fitout for AON in Brisbane.

SCOPE OF WORKS

Given the excellent condition of the space prior to works commencing, SHAPE could move onsite quickly and begin fitting out the 905 square metre space. The fitout involved an open plan layout with formal and information staff meeting areas that could be converted to a function space, as well as hot-desking, a reception and waiting area, a flexible client meeting space with theatre seating capacity for training and a breakout area. The entire fitout needed to be completed within 11 weeks.

DESIGN AND CONSTRUCT

Drawing on our extensive experience in delivering design and construct projects, SHAPE focused on identifying the client requirements early in the project. AON wanted a modern, open plan and collaborative work environment. SHAPE was able to interpret their brief to deliver a seamless design in partnership with JPE Design Studio and a fuss-free build. SHAPE also engaged local furniture suppliers to arrange showroom walkthroughs with the client. This ensured that SHAPE respected the brief and provided the client with the opportunity for input.
